

FUTURE BRAIN

By Dr Jenny Brockis

Using neuroscience Future Brain details 12 steps we can take to create a high-performance brain, improve our mental health and build resilience. In easy to read chapters Dr Brockis covers familiar topics such as nutrition, sleep, mindset, stress and mindfulness. Dr Brockis believes that multi-tasking is a myth. She suggests that you ‘do one thing at a time, give it your full and undivided attention and do it well.’

If you are in excellent health, regularly practice mindfulness, meditate, manage stress well and are up-to-date on the latest neuroscience research this book may not be for you. For those wanting to find balance and improve an area of your life, this may help. The book is a nice balance of facts which remind us of how to maintain equilibrium. Each chapter includes tips and detailed references for further reading.

HUMANISE

By Anthony Howard

Humanise takes us on a journey which is challenging - emotionally, intellectually and spiritually. The author shares his knowledge and understanding of leadership qualities and skills that are thought provoking, human, direct, ethical, motivational and very relevant. Anthony Howard believes that human-centred leadership is the key to the 21st century.

The contents of the book should not be taken lightly but used as a powerful tool, to foster further self development and awareness as to what the leadership role, responsibilities and functions entail. Recommended reading for all.
